

HOLD THREE MEN AS SUSPECTS IN STRANGLING CASE

Think Victim Was Enticed to House in Upper Broadway
by Trio Under Arrest.

ONE A BIG FELLOW.

Coroner's Physician Sure Outrage Was Not Work of Lone Criminal.

At the request of Detectives Fay and Farley Magistrate Butts, in the Harlem Court, today held John Kuznicho, a Russian, and Frank Grovela and Peter Cuvier, Greeks, on suspicion of having killed the young woman whose mutilated body was found in the arway of a tenement at No. 204 East Ninetieth street Tuesday morning. While the men were in court Inspector Dillon and twelve detectives were engaged in making a thorough search of the vacant house at One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street and Broadway where the crime is believed to have been committed.

Kuznicho was photographed and measured for the Rogues' Gallery previous to his arraignment in court. Up to that time the Greeks had been held simply as witnesses. But a remark dropped by the Russian on the way back to Harlem from Mulberry street changed the complexion of things and greatly encouraged the police.

It is the belief of the detectives that an unfortunate, starving, ignorant young woman recently arrived in New York as an immigrant was lured by the Russian and the Greeks last Saturday at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway and deced into the vacant house. She was seen there Sunday morning.

Coroner's Physician Leliane, who made the autopsy, said that two, or possibly three, men were concerned in the crime and in the mutilation and disposition of the body. One of them, he said, must have been very powerful, with big hands and wiry muscles. The Greeks under arrest are powerful men, one of them particularly so, but the Russian does not look as though he possessed a great deal of strength.

The house at One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street and Broadway in which the crime is believed to have been committed is on a lot belonging to the Tieman estate. It was at one time the country residence of Daniel F. Tieman, who was Mayor of New York from 1853 to 1859. Workmen are now en-saged in clearing the property and razing the house to make way for a business block.

The finding of Kuznicho was a long step in the way of the solution of the mystery. It is clearly established that he was in the company of the woman who was later found dead on Sunday and Sunday night. She spent nearly twenty-four hours in his company in an unoccupied building at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway, of which he was the watchman.

Admits Being with Her.
A photograph of the dead woman taken in the Morgue was shown to the three men. Kuznicho admitted that he had been with her Sunday and Sunday night. The Greeks said they had seen him with her. None of the men was told that the woman was dead.

When they discovered that she had been murdered they retraced their advances. Confronted with the body in the Morgue, all three denied that they had ever seen the woman. But there was evidence to show that she was at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway Sunday morning, and the men were held.

Amateur clairvoyants, in an effort to solve the mystery of the starving and homeless wanderer who was so brutally slain, dreamed yesterday that she was killed by Joseph Gerard, a teamster, who, on Dec. 16, 1900, strangled Gustave Pfeiffer, a Bronx girl, and made his escape. No trace was ever found of him.

The dreams of the amateurs found their way into print and were read last night by Otto Henry, deputy sheriff at Verplanck, N. Y., near Peekskill. Otto promptly arrested the only stranger in the village, an honest, hard-working German, who spoke with a Joe Weber dialect and had a scar on his face. He also had hair and a mustache.

Gerard happened to have hair and a mustache and a scar on his face, too, but he spoke with a pronounced Irish brogue. Nevertheless, Otto thought he had Gerard, and he telephoned his belief to the Detective Bureau in this city. Of course, it was not Gerard, and the man was honorably discharged from custody today.

Kuznicho admitted readily that he had been with a woman on Sunday morning. He did not know who she was and had never seen her before, he said. A picture of the woman in the Morgue was shown him and he expressed the opinion that she was the one who had been with him when the merchant peered behind the fence. The detectives then found the two Greeks, both of whom were found in the neighborhood and both of whom were ready to admit they had seen the watchman with a girl in the lot on Sunday.

KING OF ANNAM WHO KILLED HIS WIVES DETHROWED.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—It is officially announced that by the direction of the French Government the French resident of Annam has interned Thinh-Thai, King of Annam, in his palace at Hue, and established a regency of the Council of Ministers under the presidency of the Minister of Justice.

Annam, in Indo-China, is a French protectorate. The King of Annam has recently been guilty of such terrible atrocities that last October it was freely predicted in Paris that the French Government might be compelled again to adopt rigorous disciplinary measures. Last August Thinh-Thai, seized with homicidal mania, ordered seven of his wives to be executed and looked on while they were tortured to death.

TWO KILLED BY TRAIN.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 1.—Michael Van Ahren and George Wright, of Pittston, were run down and killed by trains within fifteen minutes of each other today. Van Ahren was struck by an Erie train and Wright by a Delaware Lackawanna and Western.

Important Notice to Tobacco Dealers and Their Salesmen

Ramleh Turkish Cigarettes, which in the short time since their introduction have won such tremendous popularity, will hereafter be known as the "Helmar." We ask your assistance in announcing this change of name to your customers—feeling sure you will recognize the advantage of continuing your recommendation of this splendid cigarette.

The "Ramleh" becomes the "Helmar" in order to prevent misrepresentation by manufacturers of cigarettes with names spelled or sounding similar to "Ramleh." There is no change whatever in the original, distinctive quality which has attracted so many thousands of smokers to the "Ramleh." The general style of the package is also the same—the only change being in the name, which will hereafter be "Helmar."

We are giving wide publicity to the change in name, so that no "Ramleh" smoker may be deceived by imitative brands.

Should any of your customers ask for the "Ramleh," not knowing the name has been changed, you will, of course, give them the "Ramleh" under its new name "Helmar," and inform them of the change.

The same unrivaled quality, the "real tobacco taste" which brought you so many customers for the "Ramleh" will continue to please them and secure still more patrons for
